

ABSTRACT

A stringed instrument pick comprising a curved and broadened peripheral lip adapted to effectively engage a user's thumb, wherein the pick incorporates a plurality of raised grip pads structurally adapted to interface with the grooves of the user's thumb prints and index finger prints, thus significantly reducing, or eliminating, slipping of the pick from the user's gripping fingers, and/or undesirable rotational, lateral and/or radial movement of same therebetween, during play of the guitar.